

Foraging for nettles and wild garlic this week led to discussions about where our food comes from. We are so lucky that we can find ingredients on our doorstep. We brought this back to school where we prepared some extra veg to make the most delicious nettle soup that we cooked on the portable stove outdoors. We had to use kitchen equipment responsibly and respectfully and used our number skills as we ladled the soup into containers to take home for lunch. We had a sneak wee taste at school it was super yummy.
