

WE changed our shop role play to a Post Office this week. We wrote letters to our family and took an exciting trip out. We caught the bus to the other side of the village to visit a real post office where we used our coins to buy a stamp for our letter. On the way back to nursery we found clues and letters left by some fairies. We opened them on our return and each challenged us to match the numbers to complete the picture. Can you guess who it is? Our Boo Zoo maths story this week was all about matching label's and wrapping parcels where we took them to our own role play to post. We had fun playing a colour matching post box game.
