

Oh my! The Christmas count down has begun in nursery this week.

Investigating at the curiosity table. Helping to make snow dough for the messy table and stencilling sparkly snowflake pictures just to name a few activities to get us in the Christmas spirit. Building on our teamwork skills as we try to pass the hoop around the circle without breaking the chain. Making our very own advent calendars to help with the count-down to Christmas and school festive events. The highlight of the week was all of the lovely participation in the role play area acting out the Christmas story with some of our very own ideas and thoughts, like adding a decorated tress to the stable. We used lots of loose parts to achieve this and making a gift for the baby Jesus from Santa to put underneath.
