

Working on our number recognition, subitising and pre-writing skills as we played a roll the dice hunt for that number game. When we had collected the hidden cards we then took them and emptied out our shopping bags to and circled around the items we found on our shopping list. We followed up this activity later in the week with a shopping list game where we had to take turns and use our super memory skills to find the item on our list to fill our trolley. We joined the whole school for our remembrance service this week and made some super apple printed poppy pictures to take home. A special soldier story with lots of soldier rhymes and games for Bookbug this week to tie in with this special theme.
